

|               |                                                                                                                                       |
|---------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| title  | Livingstone                                                                                                                    |
| year   | 2023                                                                                                                                  |
| size   | 130 w x 80 h x 3,5 d cmexternal dimensions 130,8 x 80,8 cm                                                                        |
| medium | Fuji Crystal Archive, glossy behind Acrylic glass 2 mm, glossyAlu-Dibond 3 mmSolid wood frame 4mm, black oak; Aluminium rails |
| price  | 2.500,-,-                                                                                                                             |

Livingstone

wilpsize

description

Forms emerge from the darkness, light up for a moment and disappear again into the shadows. Light and color do not exist here as fixed structures, but as fleeting phenomena that are in transition. The work opens up a space between presence and dissolution, in which perception and imagination flow into one another.